ATLANTA, GEORGIA, WEDNESDAY MORNING. JULY 4, 1888.

CANDLER AND HIS BOY An Incident of the President's

Visit to Atlanta. CLEVELAND'S WONDERFUL MEMORY.

A Claim That Michigan Will Go Democratic Next November-Senator Colquitt in Cincinnati-Other Gossip.

Washington, July 3 .- [Special.]-President Cleveland's reliable memory for persons and events was clearly illustrated by a little epievents was clearly litustrated by a little epi-sode this morning, which occurred during a reception temered by him to some of the young democracy of Georgia. Among the callers was Colonel John Candler, of Atlanta. Last fall, while the president and Mrs. Cleve-land were in Atlanta, Colonel Candier had charge of the military escort. On their drive through the city he rode next to Mrs. Clevethrough the carriage, and was chatting with her when he passed his home. In the window was his boy, a child of three summers, waving a flag and crying, "Hurrah for Mrs

Mrs. Cleveland was deeply impressed with the child's action, and, turning to Mr. Candler, asked whose child it was. John was highly gratified at this question, and, straightening himself in his saddle, replied with much dignity:

"Your boy!" exclaimed Mrs. Cleveland laughingly, and at the same time surveying him critically. "Why, you are too young to be a father. I can scarcely believe it."
"Yes," replied the youthful John proudly, "that is my son. He is not yet three years of age, and I was only married a short time before the nuptials of you and the president.' The conversation was quickly turned into other channels, but President Cleveland has never forgotten it, for, when Mr. Candler visited the white house this morning the president recognized him immediately, grasped his hand warmly, and said laughingly: "You impudent rascal! Have you another MICHIGAN WILL GO FOR CLEVELAND. Representative Fisher, of Michigan, wh has a better knowledge of the politics of his state than any man in the house, and who could have the democratic nomination for gov-ernor if he wanted it, returned to Washington today from a short visit home. In speaking of the political situation, he said: "I don't regard Michigan any longer as a doubtful state, think we shall carry it this fall and I say that with a full knowledge of all the circumstances. In 1884, the popular vote stood as follows in round numbers: Blaine 192.000; Cleveland 149,000; Butler 42,000; St. John

"Four years ago the issue was not so sharply defined on tariff reform; but this year it will be the only issue, and the republican platform is not satisfactory to a majority of the voters in the state, and in addition to Harrison's nomination aroused no enthusiasm, as his position on the Chinese and other questions of importance has not been satisfactory. But position on the Chinese and other questions of importance has not been satisfactory. But there are other reasons besides the weakness of the nominee and the platform that make me believe that the state will go democratic. Four years ago the prohibition vote was eighteen thousand. This year I believe I have full warrant in saying that it will reach fifty thousand, and not ten per cent. of that vote will be drawn from the democratic party. The strides the prohibitioniets have been making in the last four years has been wonderful. Last week they held their state convention, which was attended by five hundred delegates. Never before have there been more than seventy-five to one hundred delegates at one of their conventions. This time there was a regular contest for the nomination for governor, while heretofore you had, if I may use the expression, "to hire a man to take the place." The prohibition platform is very much like ours. It denounces the republican party and severely condemns the whisky plank in the republican platform. At Grand Rapids last week a conference was held between the leaders of the union labor party, the greenbackers and the democratic, and it was decided to run a fusion state ticket, this fall and fuse on the electoral ticket. The greenbackers are not so strong as they were four years ago, as many of them have been absorbed into the democratic party, but they have still a very respectable vote and the democratic, especially when you remember that of the additional 30,000 or so pro-republican vote. It seems to me that the state must go democratic, especially when you remember that of the additional 30,000 or so prohibition votes, at least 25,000 will be of men who four years ago voted for Blaine."

A SUIT AGAINST NORTH CARCINA.

The Sun this morning says that a Sunday paper published an interesting paragraph about a suit for $900,600, brought by Morton, Bliss & Co. against the state of North Carofina, which is now pending in the supreme court. The banking firm wants the state to make good $900,000 worth of bonds which Morton, Bliss & Co. bought while North Carolina was being run by the wild cat government that prevailed soon after war. If their $900,000 more on the same issue of bonds, and, as some profound sages remark, "the republicans of North Carolina won't hump themselves in the cause of a man who may be the means of saddling a $115,000,000 on the state." It is thought this will dispose of Levi's chancel in North Carolina will It is thought this will dispose of Levi's chances in North Carolina.

Cincinnati to be present at the opening of the centennial exposition.

Washington will celebrate tomorrow in a quiet, but pleasant way. Congress has adjourned until Thursday, and the departments will all close. Many picnics, etc., have been arranged, but the one at Grassland, Secretary Whitney's summer home, will be the most enjoyable of all. He has invited all the clerks in the navy department out, and will provide carriages to transport them. Secretary Whitney is very popular here, and he is often spoken of for the presidency in 1892.

The delegation of young democrats from Georgia, who have been here for two days, went over to Baltimore tonight to the young men's democratic meeting to be held tomortow.

Washington, July 3.—Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, presided over the house this morning as speaker pro tem., and laid before the house a communication from the secretary of the treasury, submitting an lestimate of $35,000 to enable him to carry out the provisions of the act relating to the anchorage of vessels in New York harbor. Referred.

Mr. Blount, of Georgia, chairman of the committee on postflices and post roads, submitted the postoffice apprepriation bill, with senate amendments thereto, recommending concurrence in some and non-concurrence in others of these amendments. Among the amendments in which non-concurrence was recommended is that appropriating $800,000 to enable the postmaster general to provide a more efficient mail service between the United States and South and Central America and the West Indies, as is also that fixing the rate of postage on seeds and bulbs at two cents per pound. The recommendations were agreed to, and a committee of conference ordered.

Mr. McMillin. of Tennessee, moved to strike out the clause imposing a duty of $11 per ton on slabs and billets of steel, and to restore the present rate of 45 per cent ad valorem.

Mr. ¡Bayne, of Pennsylvania, opposed the motion. The present duty was equivalent to $5 per ton, which, he thought, was not sufficiently high when compared with other articles in the iron and steel schedule.

McKinley moved to restore the existing rates on bar iron, and his motion was avdocated by Mr. Burrows, of Michigan.

Another political debate followed, interspersed with some personal rasping between Messrs. Scott and Reed. After the debate had run on for some time, Mr. Bland appealed in behalf of nine-tenths of the members of the house, who wanted to proceed with their business and get through with this bill before the dog days; who were tired of hearing these political discussions, begun three months ago, and repeated day in and day out, until there was nothing new under the sun to say about it. It would be the middle of next week before the bill would come up again.

Mr. Bayne, of Pennslyvania, attempted to interrupt Mr. Bland, who declined with the remark, "Pittsburg is notorious for coal gas and natural gas."

On motion of Mr. Breckinridge, of Arkansas, a duty of four-tenths of a cent per pound was imposed on iron ore, steel, flat with longitudinal ribs, for the manufacture of fencing. In speaking to a verbal amendment, Mr. Dockery, of Missouri, said that when congress assembled in December, it was confronted by a surplus in the treasury of $79,466,000. Today, notwithstanding the purchase of bonds by the secretary of the treasury, that surplus amounted to the appalling sum of $120,272,000. Since the 23d of April, the secretary lad purchased $26,000,000, for which he had been compelled to pay a premium of $5,600,000, but notwithstanding this the reduction of the surplus since that date amounted to only $6,000, 000. This was the condition which confronted congress, and yet with this condition confronting it the house had occupied twenty-eight days or one hundred and eleven hours and fifty-four minutes in general debate upon the tariff bill. He did not charge the gentlemen on the other side with indulging in dilatory tactics, but not one man en that side had exhibited any consuming desire to reach the conclusion of the debate. The money of the people was piling up in the treasury at the rate of $1,215,000 daily, and yet the house stood day after day, discussing and rediscussing every ftem in the bill. Fair play to the business interests of the country required that the bill should be speedily passed and sent to the senate.

The failure of Seligman Bros. & Co. was caused by that of Seligman, May & Co. yesterday. The former had indorsed for the latter $80,000 of accommodation paper. It is announced that the other liabilities of the firm were about $160,000, making a total of $240,-000. The suddenness of the failure is shown by the fact that checks to the amount of $40,-000 to $50,000 were ready to send out when the failures were announced. GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 3.-There is a strange similarity between this day and thatof just twenty-five years ago. Then the armies of Meade and Lee confronted each other in sullen silence. The first day had ended in the defeatof Reynolds's men and the conflict of the second had been indecisive. True Longstreet's assault on Little Round Top was unsuccessful and the federals still held their original position, but they were weak and broken, and the morning of the third day saw them in no way improved All through that sultry day which was to decide forever the great questions sub-mitted to the arbitration of war, silence reigned over the armies. At 4 o'clock, however, the signal gun of Leo opened the greatest artillery duel the world has ever seen, and until the columns of Pickett's Virginians were hurled back from the GENERAL GORDON'S VIEWS.

General John B. Gordon, of Georgia, whose eloquent speech set the crowd fairly crazy yesterday afternoon and had made him the most popular man in townlafterward, was compelled by his official position, as chief executive, to leave for Atlanta this afternoon. To an associated press representative, in answer to the question what was his opinion of the reunion, he said:

he said:

"This meeting was a great success, and if these reunions between the soldiers could occur yearly it would serve to cement the friendly feeling of the blue and gray more closely, and to bind the north and souths of firm that there would be no north and no seuth, but one country linked together by chains of indissoluble friendship."

Promptly at 3 o'clock a procession composed of the same military commands as yesterday entered the National cemetery, Colonel Gibson, ranking officer present, leading. As theband filed past the rostrum it struck up popular airs from Erminie.

presented no new features to-day. No more signatures were obtained by the Amalgamated people to their scale up to noon, and there were no indications of either side giving in. The manufacturers say that before they decided to resist the workmen's scale they calculated that certain firms would sign the scale, and they look for at least two more mills to resume before the end of the week. The workmen appear to be well satisfied with the result, and confidently assert that the lockout will not last very long. The thirteen firms that have signed the scale operate sixteen mills, and employ about 1.200 men.

A Youngstown, O., dispatch says there is no change in the situation there. All out-going trains are crowded with iron werkers and their families going to visit friends. The manufacturers show no disposition to sign the scale.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon word was received at the amalgamated headquarters that the Scotdale Iron and Steel company, of Scotdale, Pa., had signed the scale and would coninue their plant in full operation.

London, July 3.—On the resumption today, of the trial of the libel suit of Frank Hugh O'Donnell against the Times, Mr. Lucy, of the Daily News, was further cross-examined with a view to showing that O'Donnell and Parnell were chiefs of the Irish party when Mr. Gladstone denounced the league. The attendance in the courtroom was smaller than yesterday. Colonel Saunderson, leader of the Irish tories in the house of commons, was among the spectators. Counsel called Joseph Cower, formerly a member of parliament for Newcastle-on-Tyne for the purpose of obtaining certain evidence, but the chnef justice refused to allow—its introduction. Burt Wem, member of parliament for Morpoh, gave testimony and then the case for the plaintiff was closed. Attorney-General Webster opened for the defense. is a fair estimate to place the number of negroes in Atlanta toda at 20,000.

The negro military companies and their various civic societies will have a big muster.

Business in Atlanta will be generally suspended. A great many of the stores will be closed all day. Many others will stay open until noon and then close for the day. As a general thing the factories and machine shops will suspend. The banks will all be closed. The offices in the capitol will not be open. The postoffice and customhouse officers will observe to-day as a holiday. The county courthouse will be closed all day. The chamber of commerce building will be closed. All the city departments will suspend business, and the county officials will go up to Salt Springs to have a frolic.

This afternoon an immense crowd will go out to the baseball park to see one of the best games of the year. It is likely that several thousand people will see this great contest. It will certainly be a close and exciting game.

The military companies will spend the day at the Chautauqua grounds. They will go up with the veterans at 7 o'clock this morning. Captain Forbes will carry up two of his cannons and will fire a national salute.

The storekeepers have supplied themselves with an extraordinary supply of watermelons. It is said that there are 75,000 watermelons. It is said that there are 75,000 watermelons in Atlanta this morning. Most of them will be eaten before sundown.

It will be a glorious fourth. There's no doubt about this.

The Fourth in North Carolina The Fourth in North Carolina.

RALFIGH, N. C., July 3.—[Special.]—The observance of the Fourth of July this year will be the most general and enthusiastic in nearly thirty years. Many towns will celebrate in handsome style. Winston and Salem, which are twin towns, divided only by a street, will have a superb celebration, with a procession a mile long, in which are to be hundreds of old soldiers, both federal and confederate. Tents were prepared for these veterans today, and tonight they are in camp. Senators Wade Hampton and Vance will be present and make speeches. There is great enthusiasm and good feeling.

CONFESSED HIS CRIME

And Was Then Swung Off Into Eternity The First Lynching. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 3—[Special.]—The first lynching of a negro by men of his own race in this state, occurred Sundry night, at Moulton, Lawrence county. Last Friday Calvin Moody, colored, uarreled with his wife about some trifling matte He struck her on the head with a club, knocking her down and then stabbed her several times with a knife. He then dragged her into the woods a knife. He then dragged her into the woods near his house, where she bled to deaths. After she was dead he returned and eovered her body with leaves. Moody was arrested on suspicion Saturday morning, and that afternoon his wife's body was found. Sunday night about 200 armed negroes surrounded the jail. The sheriff and a special guard were overpowered, and Moody was soon in the hands of the mob. They carried him a short distance. When the rope was thrown over the limb he asked for a chance to talk. It was granted, and he made a full confession of his crime.

DEMOCRATIC; CLUBS.

The Convention to Assemble in Baltimore

Today.

Baltimore, Md., July 3—The national convention of the league of democratic clubs will be called to order at noon tomorrow in Baltimore Academy of Music by Charles Ogden, of Omaha, Neb., chairman of the general committee of the national league. The first session of the convention will be taken up with primary business, including the naming of committees on credentials, organization and rules. When these committees report, and the convention is permanently organized, the actual work that has brought the democratic hosts together will be taken up. The purpose is to organize a national league of clubs for the presidential campaign. The platform of the national democratic convention at St. Louis will be the basis for this Baltimore convention. Delegations from different sections of the United States poured into Baltimore during the day and evening, and the lobbies of the hotels were crowded with people.

Arrangments for a great mass meeting at Harris Academy of Music Thursday night are complete. Three meetings will be held; one in the academy of music; one in concert hall and one out of doors. They will be presided over respectively by Governor E. E. Jackson, Mayor F. C. Latrobe and ex-Mayor James Hodges.

The directing committee, through whose hands all the work of league will go is Senaters Kenna, Faulkner, Gorman and Ex-Congressman Phillip B. Thompson, Jr., of Kentucky.

Canton, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—Today at 11 o'clock the members of the Farmers' Allimance and citizens generally of the county met in the courthouse and were 'addressed for an hour by J. H. Turner, state organizer, upon the benefits to be derived from, and the objects of, the Farmers' Alliance. A large crowd was present, the courthouse being filled until nearly all the standing room was taken. At the close of Mr. Turner's speech the meeting adjourned, but was immediately called to order by Colonel C.D. Maddox, chairman of the county democratic committee, for the purpose of selecting delegates to represent Cherokee county in the congressional convention to be held in Gainesville on August 14th. Upon motion of Captain John B. Richards, Mr. M. L. Petty was selected as chairman, and Mr. Ben F. Perry was chosen as secretary. Organization being perfected, Hon. George R. Enthusiastic Meeting.

Rome, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—The campaign in the seventh congressional district was opened today by Hon. Joel Branham. The courthouse was filled to overflowing, and the judge's appearance on the stand at noon was greeted by tumultuous applause.

When quiet was restored Judge Branham began his address. He spoke earnestly—at times eloquently—on the issues of the day. He made many strong points, and was frequently interrupted by hearty applause.

The judge spoke a little over an hour, and was listened to throughout with close attention.

was listened to throughout with close attention.

He said the issues of the war were settled by the people and have been cheerfully acquisesced in by all. No southern man now claims the right of a state to secede from the union or to re-establish slavery, nor would any southerner take from the colored man any political right guaranteed him by the constitution or laws of our country. The federal government is one of limited power; the states are severing.

is one of limited power; the states are soverign.

The election of are Cleveland and the constant of the government by the democratic party is the most important of all issues today to the people of the south.

Since the war, republican legislation and the decisions of republican courts have been untriendly to the south. The judge then reviewed this subject in detail, referring to the law creating supervisors of elections, the laws governing the removal of cases from state to federal courts, the prosecution of state officers on account of the manner of constituting juries and sustaining suits of private citizens against on a count of the manner of constituting juries and sustaining suits of private citizens against states, and the "force" bill.

The judge then discussed the questions relating to the silver currency and banking laws. He doubted the practicability of the free and unlimitited coinage of silver by the United States alone. The result, he thought, would be to draw all gold out of the country. He favored a bi-metalic currency and the free coinage of silver upon a ratio to be fixed by the United States and other leading nations, and no unfavorable interference with the present coinage law.

He favored a change in the banking law so as to allow loans on real estate, and the repeal to allow loans on real estate, and the repeal of laws taxing the bills of state banks. On the tariff the judge began by stating the government's account of receipts and expenditures, in this way reaching the surplus. How shall we get rid of that surplus? Over half the British revenue is raised by taxes on liquor and tobacco. One hundred and eighteen million dollars of our revenue are raised by our internal revenue system: $217.00 (60) he our internal revenue system; $217,000,000 by custom duty. Of this sum, sugar yields $56,000,000, iron $20,000,000, wool and its products $35,000,000, silk $15,000,000. Nine northern and western states pay $90,000,000 of the internal revenue tax. Georgia pays about $70,000,000. The whisky tax yields about $70,000,000. The cost of sugar in foreign countries. ternal revenue tax. Georgia pays about $300,000. The whisky tax yields about $70,000,000. The cost of sugar in foreign countries is 2½ cents per pound; here it retails at from 7 to 10 cents per pound. Now, as between whisky and sugar, the judge said he would first lower the price of sugar. However, the internal revenue system is very objectionable and ought to be altogether abolished as soon as it can be done without injury to the interests, of the people. But its abolition should not be made a pretext for refusing to reduce the tariff. The judge also discussed the question of wool and iron and favored the Mills bill, which abolishes nearly all of the tobacco tax which abolishes nearly all of the tobacco tax and reduces the customs duties $50,000,000 or more. He discussed the subject of trusts in detail, condemning them and all monopolies

COLONEL TRAYLOR'S CARD.

Some Criticisms Upon it from LaGrange Gentle mon.

LAGRANGE, Ga., July 3.—Editors Constitu-tion: Colonel J. H. Traylor published in The Constitution of Sanday's issue his announce-ment as a candidate for congress in the fourth Constitution of Sanday's issue his announcement as a candidate for congress in the fourth district. The people here think very strange that he should make his announcement in a paper out of the district, when there are three papers published in his county and several others in the district. They cannot account for it, unless he is being manipulated by the parties mentioned in the statement made, by John W. Hall to your Washington correspondent and printed in The Constitution of the 28th ult. Bye the bye, our people in Troup generally believe the statement of Hall to be correct. The general statement of many of our better informed citizens in political matters; the frequent charge of the plan as indicated by J. W. Hall, in the papers of the town and no denial of the same fixes the charge upon Colonel Traylor and his friends beyond doubt. The immediate circumstances attending his an nouncement point strongly to the fact that he is being used for a certain purpose, and that purpose is the one mentioned by your Washington correspondent. The fact that his announcement followed immediately upon the reception of a telegraphic dispatch from Atlanta by T. C. Crenshaw to a certain party in LaGrange, to this effect, "See Colonel Traylor make him announce himself as a candidate for congress in tomorrow's Constitution; do not let him come to Atlanta any more; tell him to insist on primary elections," looks very much like an understanding on the part of these gentlemen to make a tool of Traylor very much like dietation and the exercise of coercion and undue influence in forcing Traylor to stand for congress for the purpose as stated by J. W. Hall.

A Night of Riotous Enthusiasm-Two Meet ings Held-Proceedings of Both of Them-Other Notes.

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 3 .- [Special.]-The Richmond county mass meeting tonight to select delegates to the gubernatorial and senatorial convention was the stormiest political neeting held in the county in many years. The usual custom has been to hold ma ings at twelve o'clock in the day. But, by some chance, this one was called for night. The Knights of Labor from the factory district took advantage of the change, and were down in numbers to capture the meeting. When the hour arrived for the meeting the factory ele-ment predominated in the crowd, and they were ready with their little slate. Just as soon as the programme opened, Mr. E. J. O'Conner was nominated for chairman. They im-mediately nominated Mr. Silas C. Reed, and overwhelmingly elected him.

BARNES RENOMINATED. But Tom Watson Will Oppose Him Next

Augusta, Ga., July 3.-[Special.]-The nth district congressional convention was held to-day at Augusta, with Judge William Gibson, of Warren, chairman and E. B. Hook, secretary. All of the counties were represented, except McDuffie, which in the light of the report that Hon. Thomas C. Watson, of that county is groming for the race next time, was somewhat significant. The convention to-day was a regular love feast, and Hon. George T. Barnes was unanimously renominated by a standing vote.

The following district executive committee G. D. Harrell, of Jefferson: T. H. Rem Lincoln; Randolph Ridgley, of Burke; J. W. Flanders, of Johnson W. R. Log Sr., of Glasscock; James Whitehead, Warren; W. L. Berton, of Columbia; Macon Warlton, of Washington; Thomas E Watson, of McDuffie and John I. Wright, of Tallaferro.

THE BIBB POLITICIANS

Propose to Have a Lively Political Cam

Macon, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—Political circles were stirred up today over a petition which is being extensively circulated over the city, and it is claimed that it will be signed by over a thousand men. When this number is completed it will be handed to Colonel R. W. Patterson requesting him to the colonel R. W. completed it will be handed to Colonel R. W. Patterson, requesting him to run for the legislature at the next election. The matter has been kept quiet, but The Constitution reporter heard of it, and approached Mr. Patterson on the subject. He said:

"While I have not been regularly informed that I would be presented with such a petition, some of my friends, who had signed it, informed me of it, and that is all I know of it now."

"If it is presented, which, of course, will be done, will you accept the nomination?"
"Well, yes. I can see no reason why I should not. The number of petitioners would show how they would support, and I can better judge then."

Mr. Patterson's past record is unexcelled Mr. Patterson's past record is unexcelled. He has an extensive law practice all over the state, and his record in the house of representatives is one that reflects a great deal of credit to him, while the way he protects Macon as a city attorney has often been spoken of. Hon. W. A. Huff has always been thought to be as strong a candidate as could be put up, and a strong tight may be looked for between them. The following is a copy of the Patterson petition: The londering petition:
Macox, Ga., July 3, 1888.—To Hon. R. W. Patierson—Dear Sir: We the undersigned realizing that you will ably and faithfully represent Bibb's best interests in the next legislature, most carnestly reconsect the use of your name as a candidate in the uest the use of your name as a candidate in the rimary election to be held on the 21st of this month to select the nominees of the democratic party for, nembers of the legislature from this county. The Dougherty Democrats.

ALBANY, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—The democrats of Dougherty county held a meeting at noon today. S. C. Westen was chairman. I. T. Calloway, R. Hobbs, W. T. Jones and J. W. Walters were elected delegates to the state democratic convention. Fifteen delegates were appointed to the congressional convention. The executive committee meets here on Thursday to select the place for holding the convention. Presumably it will be held here, hence a large committee was appointed to look after the delegates should such be the case. Colonel A. L. Hawes was indorsed as presidential elector for this district. Resolutions were adopted indersing Cleveland, Thurman, Governor Gordon and the present statehouse officers. The Dougherty Democrats.

Two excellent objects appeal for your help today. The Chautauqua opens its first session -the confederate veterans start their fund for a veterans' home. How can you help them? By buying a sixty-five cent ticket to Chantau-qua, and going out at 9 o'clock, 11 o'clock, or 1:25, eating a good barbeened dinner under the trees, hearing good music and good speeches. It only costs sixty-five cents. Now, can you afford not to spend that much in helping out the Chantauqua and the veterans? Twenty thousand tickets ought to be sold today. Buy a ticket even if you cannot go, and the veterans will appreciate it. BUSINESS MEN MEET.

Madison Seeking Favorable Terminal Rate

Madison Seeking Favorable Terminal Rates—General Matters.

Madison, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—A meeting of the business men of the city was held at the city hall yesterday afternoon. On motion of S. A. Turnell Captain J. K. Wright was elected chairman and R. U. Thomason, secretary. The chair then stated that the object of the meeting was to consider and adopt a plan for securing terminal rates of freight for Madison. After some discussion the assembly decided, on motion of Mr. Hammond, to appoint a committee to investigate the matter, and decide upon a plan of action for securing terminal rates. The following committee was then appointed: Judge G. B. Stovall, L. T. Penick, S. A. Turnell, P. S. Burney, L. H. Foster, M. A. Hammond, W. H. Burnett and Captain J. K. Wright. The meeting then, adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. This is a matter of vital importance to our city and our merchants and business men will endeavor to secure these low rates, as our business is increasing, and our city growing in importance so that terminal rates of freight is a necessity. Work on the cottom compress grounds is progressing rapidly. The compress importance so that terminal rates of freight is a necessity. Work on the cottom compress grounds is progressing rapidly. The compress will be located near the Georgia depot, and is being built by capitalists from Athens and elsewhere. This is an enterprise in which our people are greatly interested, and it is hoped will be of great benefit to the city, by being will be of great benefit to the city, by being the means of bringing more cotten to this market. Colonel W. A. Broughten is now in correspondence with northern capitalists, who are interested in putting an oil mill and guano factory near this city. Colonel Broughton says the factory and oil mills will certainly be built. A firm from Macon will establish a branch dry goods house here, and will begin business on the 15th inst. Mr. A. R. Drannock, of Atlanta, has opened a jewelry store here and will reside here in future. Godfrey's large cotton warehouse has been rebuilt. Our merchants will celebrate the glorious Fourth by clesing their stores at 12

rious Fourth by closing their stores at 12 o'clock. The clerks are delighted. A new barber shop is another one of our improvements. Mr. W. Pete Bearden will have charge. Madison already has two good barbers—Albert Barnes and Carter Eggleston, Albert is one of the best barbers in the state, and has some good friends among the white paceule.

With Buckshot in His Face and Neck-The Coroner's Verdict.

Coroner's Verdict.

WAYCROSS, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—This morning about 8 o'clock, near Tyty, Ga., a station about eighty miles from Waycross, on the Brunswick and Western railroad, a colored man named Ben Walker was found in the road dead. He was employed as a hand at a saw mill in that vicinity. He had been shot in the face and neck with buckshot. He was not cold when found. It is thought that he was shot after daylight. He was a very quarrelsome negro, and had only a few days ago had a difficulty with some white men. The coroner's jury held an inquest over his body, but failed to develop any clue to the perpetrators. The general feeling is that he has met his just deserts, and that others may profit by the example.

An Accident on the Road.

Columbus, Ga., July 3.—[Specail.]—A freight train on the Columbus and Western jumped the track just beyond Alexander City, this afternoon. Six cars were badly wrecked.

Conductor A. P. Lucas and two brakemen were considerably shaken up, but not injured enough to require the services of a physician.

The passenger train from Birmingham and Atlanta was delayed six hours on account of the accident

The Albany Chautanona. The Albany Chautauqua.

Albany, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—A meeting of the Chautanqua location committee was held at the court house today. Several sites were offered. Two sub-committees were approximately and the matter, and present were offered. Two sub-committees were ap-pointed to investigate the matter, and present the various offers of site at the next meeting. The fair ground park, belonging to the city and embracing forty acres along the banks of the Flint, twenty-four acres southwest of the city and a location opposite the court house plaza in the center of Albany, are the locations at present

The Celebration in Dalton.

DATON, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—Today, Tuesday, the basket dinner at the park, took place. Colonel I. E. Shumate welcomed them in appropriate style. Tonight the concert at the opera house was a most pleasant affair. Miss Carrie Ward Mathews, Atlanta's charming and accomplished plants assisted. Miss ing and accomplished pianist, assisted. Miss Mathews is the guest of Mrs. C. B. Willing-ham, and is a great social favorite here.

Among the people of today, there are few indeed, who have not heard of the merits of Prickly Ash Bark and Berries, as a household remedy. Teas and drinks have been made of them for centuries, and in lundreds of families have formed the sole reliance in rheumatic and kidney diseases. Prickly Ash Bitters now take the place of the old system and is more beneficial in all troubles of this nature. In Muscogee Superior Court.

COLUMBUS, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—in the superior court today, a mistrial was declared in the case of M. S. Simons, charged with selling liquor to minors. Jack Wyatt was acquitted of vagrancy, and O. B. Weeks of simple larceny. Judge Smith will not hold court tomorrow in honor of July 4.

Do not miss the great Fourth at Chautauqua today. Help the Confederate Veterans and open the Chautauqua with a boom. Barbecue, concerts and speaking. Sixty-five cents round trip, including admission.

lowing extensive programme combines most of the features that will take place at the public library entertainment at the Central City park, in Macon, tomorrow, and also the hours when, and the different places in the grou where, the contests will begin. The day's sports will begin with the tournament, which will occur in the mile race course, between the grand stand and the judges' stand. This is, no doubt, the most drawing card of the day. The contestants are all young horsemen from the best classes of the city, and at 9 o'clock they will begin the tustle for the $100 diamond stud. All the rules, prizes, judges and managers were published in Sunday's Consti-TUTION, so that only the events and times are published today. Baby show in Floral hall, 9:30 to 11 in the

And Later Took a Cell in Jail for Doing So.

Macon, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—Late last night while on the Second street side of beat number one, Officers Baughn and Goodroe heard a suspicious noise back of D. Daun Egan's confectionery, and concluded to investigate. They slipped around behind the building just in time to catch a negro man with a large basket of cakes, which he was carrying off. They let him carry it off—to the barracks—and they accompanied him. He said Mr. Egan had given it to him, but the tale was too thin, and he was locked up. This morning Mr. Egan took out a warrant for him, and he was taken to jail by Bailliff Kennebrew, where he will await

CUTICURA REMEDIES.

EVERY NIGHT I SCRATCHED

Until the Skin Was Raw-Body Covered with Scales Like Spots of Mortar-Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

the Cuticura Remedies.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the first of April last I noticed some :el pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it segan to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied with itching I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consuit all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper a set your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them. ...m my druggist, and obtained almost immediato relief. I began to notice that the scaly cupptions gradually dropped off and disappeared, one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the discase thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My discase was eczema and psorfasis. I recommended the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers, who have babes with scaly cruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a haby's.

A Brilliant Array of Talent and Progress.

The Closing Exercises of the Gordon Institute-School Exercises in Progress Throughout the State.

BARNESVILLE, Ga., July 3—[Special.]—The prize declamation by the Neanian societies took place to-day. The following speakers were the contestants:

Class 1—Merritt Thurman, Clay Murphey, Hallie Reviere, Pope Haguley, Shi Gray.

Class 2—James Thurman, W. B. Veal, Charnel Summers, Hiram Gardner, Hubert Willis, Magnus Milner, Chas. Perdue, Thomas Rogers, Clif Elder, Henry Sparks, Powell Stephens, James Summers.

The speakers, with the oratorical powers of Domosthenes, poured fourth their eloquence with marked enthusiasm, each one realizing the fact that he had a mark to make and a prize to win. Each little speaker was greeted with continued applause by the large auditory, who assembled to hear them. Hattie Riviere, of Texas, was the winner of the medal in first class and Henry Spark of class No. 2. The prizes were delivered by Colonel William R. Taylor, of Barnesville, in a beautiful and instructive oration.

Taylor, of Barnesville, in a beautiful and instructive oration.

Monday night was a grand time for the little folks, and it was the best exercises that had ever been presented on Monday night of any previous commencement. The little six and ten-year-old girls singing solos in sweetest and mildest tones before such a crowded house evinced their skilled training. The stage was almost a paradise, filled with augelic looking little girls, some seemingly too small to be heard. This department is under the management of Mrs. L. K. Rogers, Miss Augusta Riviere and Ada Murphey, who have the respect and love of each little pupil. Music—March Inilitaire, Misses Gardner, Sheffield and Rose.

Music—Marca Inhibitic, Masses Ostatich and Rose, Anthem, Benedictus,
Prayer—Rev. W. W. Arnold,
Oration—Carpe Diem, William H. Mitchell.
Music—On Life's Journey, music class.
Oration—The Glory of Nations, A. C. Felton.

Oration—The Greater the Difficulty the More Glorious the Victory, Joseph D. Smith.
Oration—C. H. Price, excused.
Music—Tornado Gallop, Fannie Whitaker and Oscar Martin, Mary Gardner and Estel's McKenzie, Ida Shefield and Belle Crowder.
Addr.ss—Colonel John P. Ross, Macon, Ga.
Miss Nellie Williams, the only young lady in the class, portrayed her own character in her well selected subject. She was the recipient of loud applause and numerous compliments. loud applause and numerous compliments.

The young men were all well prepared and

Mr. J. D. Smith, after standing the examination required by the board, has been granted a scholarship at the state university in Athens. Mr. Smith is educating himself by his own industry, which bespeaks for him unbounded

The music was simply grand, and especially were the audience entertained by the instrumental trio by Misses Goode, Gardner and Sheffield. It was one of the grandest compositions performed by natural born musicians. This department is noted for its thoroughness, and is becoming widely advertised everywhere. There are several young ladies who are only in school for the musical advantages. We cannot pass this by without some comment upon the address. Colonel John P. Ross, of Macon, was introduced by Hon. Edward Elder. Mr. Elder in his remarks clearly demonstrated the fact that his and our motto should be "Gordon institute first, last and forever." Mr. Ross then, with the ease of all distinguished orators, delivered an address that not only should be heeded by the class which he addressed, but all that heard him. His audience was attentive, thereby lending power and eloquence to the speaker's soul. His remarks in reference to the iustitue and the reputation it bore abroad were to his hearers like a summer shower on the parched earth.

The art department is attractive. It is under the supervision of Miss Ida Brown, who has mada it a study for several years. Upon the walls of the chapel can be seen pictures drawn by little girls and boys that would do credit to artists of more years and more study. This, department is awake to all that can promote its progress, and is an almost necessity in every school. The music was simply grand, and especially HINESVILLE, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—The spring term of Tranquil institute of learning, situated in Flemington, Liberty county, closed yesterday. The day was spent in examination of the various classes, awarding prizes, etc. The principal, Mr. J. Q. Spencer, was assisted by Professor S. D. Bradwell, principal of the Bradwell institute, Hinesville, Ga., and the students showed how thorough had been their tutorage by their ready and correct answers to the questions propounded. The parents of the pupils were quite delighted to note the rapid progress up the hill of knowledge by their children since the last examination.

propounded. The parents of the pulpis were quite delighted to note the rapid progress up the hill of knowledge by their children since the last examination.

The entertainment of the evening consisted of recitations by the young ladies, extracts from the youths and young men, charades and an original speech by Mr. Jos. B. Way. The recitations were beautifully rendered. Miss Sallie Lou Way recited 'Roger and I,' and elicited much favorable comment. Miss Laura Fraser recited St. Michaels, and was applauded much for her ease of manner and force of expression, Miss Mata McDonald gave us a selection from Mark Twain, which was well fendered and brought down the house.

The boys spoke their extracts well, showing they had been well trained and had thoroughly memorized the selections made for them. The acting in the cliarades was good, and the young ladies proved how good care can be taken of a rich aunt who is in search of a dear, good faithful niece to whom she can bequeath her immense fortune.

Mr. Way's speech was carefully prepared, and delivered in a very entertaining and forcible manner, and was fouldy applauded.

The 'Quaker Courtship,'' rendered by Master Arthur Spencer and Miss Eva Cassels, was a prominent feature of the entertainment of the evening, and was much applauded. When the exercises were concluded, the audience was favored with a reading, a sermon and several comic songs by Professor Brown, of Savannah, which created an immense amount of fun, and he was called out repeatedly until the soreness of his throat prevented him from continuing his performances longer. The building was comfortably filled and every one appeared to be much pleased with the entertainment, and at 2:30 a. m. returned to their homes with their minds filled with happy recollections of the pleasures of the evening.

He discussed the wisdom and happiness of seeking to be in harmony with the plans and purposes of the good and wise Creator.

with the plans and purposes of the good and wise Creator.

Monday's programme embraced readings by nine young ladies from eight different counties with one name from Florida. The pieces were finely rendered and those that received most favor were Miss Bacon, Eastman, Ga., Miss Kittrell, of Johnson county, and Miss Grier, of Tatnall.

The institution has numbered one hundred and sixteen in the literary and large class in music and art.

A number of the alumnæ are in attendance and Monroe sends its congratulations to the absent ones, not only in the state, but scattered throughout the south.

Tomorrow the audience will have a welcome by one of the graduates of 1888. An essay by one of the alumnæ and a literary address by Dr. I. R. Branham. Wednesday bristles with points of interest and pleasure. But enough for the present.

Harmony Grove, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—
A called meeting of the city council was held yesterday evening for the purpose of selecting a site for the public school building, and also plans and specifications for the same. The Whitehead lot, adjoining the present schoolhouse, was selected as the site for the new bu'lding. The design of the building, as prepared by the architect, is a two-story brick building, fifty-two by fifty-eight feet, erected in the latest style of architecture, and costing $7,000. The lower story will be cut up into recitation rooms, and the whole of the second floor will constitute a hall suitable for exhibitions, etc. The council ordered the mayor to issue the bonds for building the academy at once, and, after the bonds have been placed, work will begin upon it immediately, so as to have it ready for occupancy by January 1, 1889. This is certainly a move in the right direction, and the erection of this academy will be of incalculable benefit to our thriving little metropolis.

HAZING DOESN'T PAY.

Naval Cadets to be Court Martialed for their Practical Jokes. Annapolis, Md., July 3.—The nature of the "hazing" on the United States practice ship, Constellation, was learned today from Captain Sampson, superintendent of the naval academy. The hazing has been done entirely by the third class and the sufferers are fourth class men who entered by the May examination. The fourth class men were made to chew candles, eat soap, stand on their heads and to use only certain ladders on the ship. The law commands the superintendent to order a court martial as soon as a case of "hazing" comes to his notice. He has no recourse. Commander C. D. Sigsbee will be president of the courtmartial. The ordering of the ship to return to Annapolis is the refinement of punishment to naval cadets. They combine business and pleasure every summer by sailing north into cool latitudes and enjoying visits to summer resorts. Interspersed between their hard service at sea in working the tween their hard service at sea in working the ship as seamen and petty officers, the whole ship's company will spend the hot July days in this port with the thermometer in the nine-

THE CONSTITUTION,

87 J. J. Flynn, General Eastern Agent, Park Row, New York City.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 4, 1888. Republican Gush.

In the city of Indianapolis, the home o General Harrison, is a magnificant cyclo rama representing the battle of Atlanta. The great painting has been finished only a short while, and in correctness of detail is ounced by those who know a splendid resentation of the famous battle fought around this city. It has drawn immensely, and its owners are being handsomely repaid for their investment.

When Harrison was nominated by the republicans the manager of the cyclorama, a Captain Perry, concluded that it would be a master stroke to substitute the face of the new republican leader for that of one of the most conspicuous of the generals who occupied a prominent position in the painting. Consequently the great historical picture was mutilated accordingly, and those who went to see it were treated to the very interesting spectacle of seeing the republican nominee leading an heroic charge and carrying terror in his wake. This is a fair sample of republican gush, for General Harrison was not in the battle of Atlanta, and had no more to do with it than any of the other union soldiers scattered elsewhere throughout the south. This ridiculous effort at sentimentality did not pay, and the managers soon saw that it ould prove disastrous to the historical interest in the enterprise. Consequently General Harrison will be rubbed out and the picture will be restored to its original

The people of this country much prefer truth to sentiment, and this is one of the reasons that will retain the democratic party in control of the administration of

THE republicans are trying to get Harrison to shave off his pigtail.

The Soldier as a Citizen.

Carlyle spoke of the soldier as the only positive figure in our civilization.

The genuine soldier is a patriot and a good citizen. If he is the first in war he is also the first in peace. The brave men who fight each other at the call of duty are the most forgiving and forbearing when the war is over. When an issue is dead they are the last to revive it. They may be fierce in enforcing the arbitrament of the sword, but they stand by it in good faith. When our war ended Grant and Lee and their followers ceased to be enemies. The passions of the struggle survived only in the hearts of those who remained in the rear during the fight. The speeches of Sickles, Longstreet, Gordon and Beaver at the Gettysburg reprion all have the ring of patriotism and nationalism. General Beaver summed up the past and present in golden words when

On our side the war was one of principles, of abstract ideas largely. On your side we admit, with your views of what was to be expected in the future, your property rights and private interests were directly involved, and hence the more Intense feeling and arder which you displayed. You, as hon There is no bloody shirt nonsense lurking between the lines of this speech. These are the words of a brave soldier talking to other brave soldiers who met him in the shock of battle a quarter of a century ago. Give us the soldier first, last and all the time! The best friends of the south since the war have been the northern veterans. The south's best workers, developers and wisest counsellors have been the men who wore the gray. The Gettysburg reunion will teach the bloody shirt party a lesson, and, if we have a few hotheads down this way who have forgotten that the war is over, they, too, will yield to the mild and pacific influence of the occasion. Our old soldiers did the work of giants in war, and now they are bringing their career to a happy climax by doing the work of giants in peace.

THE commissioner of patents has refused to issue a patent on the proposed air-ship. It seems that the air-ship, like the republican party, is in a state of collapse.

Wise Counsel Prevails.

It is with a degree of genuine pleasure that THE CONSTITUTION observes that wise counsel prevailed among democratic leaders in the inauguration of the great campaign which is now fairly under way. There seems to be no effort at ostracism, no bad feeling, no unmerited rebukes, and above all no crazy ultraism to jeopardize the chances of

Indeed, it seems that the campaign is to be fought by the democrats just exactly on the same grounds THE CONSTITUTION advocated when it urged the democrats of Georgia to harmonize among themselves. Fortunately, the democratic leaders [of the national party are actuated by wiser moties than the Georgia bosses were when they knifed everybody who differed with them as to policy, and when they unfurled the flag of ultraism as the standard of the party in the state, and demanded that all ocrats should bend their necks or step out of the party. There has been no public executions of seading democrats, honored by their long services in the ranks of the party, as there were in Georgia, nor have the national leaders so far forgotten themselves as to plunge the democracy into a campaign which could only result in defeat. The national committee, as selected at the St. Louis convention by the delegations of each of the separate states, has selected Hon. W. H. Barnum, of Connecticut, as its chairman. Mr. Barnum is a strict protectionist, but the committee did not exercise towards him the policy of proscription which the democrats of Georgia exercised towards leaders as much distinguished in their services to the party in this state as is Mr. Barnum for his services to the national democracy. Mr. Barnum was not elected as a protectionist, but yielded his private opinion to the will of the majority as expressed in the platform of the party. This is just what the Georgia minority did, but they were told to step aside, and were scarcely allowed to look on as the Juggernaut car of the bosses floundered by.

With such an auspicious opening of the democratic campaign there can scarcely be any doubt as to the outcome. Mr. Randall, and those who think with him, can do valuable service to the party, and may again be called upon to save it from defeat as they did four years ago. Should this call ever be made we are confident that the gallant Pennsylvanian will respond and be found in the foremost of the fight.

MRS. BLAINE, according to correspondents, is very sorry because her husband was not nominated. Brother Blaine, however, is glad that he is out of the racket.

All Talk.

Once more certain of the republican leaders are talking about making a campagin in the south. They pretend to believe that Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee are missionary ground, and they are talking about sending sour of their able orators down to convince the too solld south that it is best for all concerned to place in power a party that has exhausted all its ingenuity in its efforts to harass, humiliate and degrade the southern people.

But it is all talk. The republican programme has been made up, and it is a programme that necessitates loud and frequent shricks over the old dead issues of the war. The bloody shirt is to be waved furiously all over the north, and a strenuous effort will be made to kindle the fires of sectionalism. A republican campaign in the south would mar this programme. The moment that a republican speaker addresses a southern audience during the progress of a national campaign, that moment the bloody shirt must be hauled down. The republicans see and feel this, and for that reason no effort will be made to divide the solid south.

GOVERNOR GRAY says that the democrats will carry Indiana. Well, if Harrison can't carry his own state, Mr. Cleveland will have a walk-over.

A Republican Prophet.

Editor Halstead, in his vigorous and chipper style, continues to cheer and invigorate such democrats as, out of curiosity, read his able and esteemed paper, the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. explain that Editor Halstead has no intention of cheering and encouraging his democratic readers. He is not in a very cheerful mood himself, and he has no idea that he is giving aid and comfort to those whom he regards as Philistines.

But so it is. Out of the mists of his melancholy, in which he preceives the south in the saddle, and riding straddle, and the spectre of the confederacy posed against a gloomy and forbidding background, it is possible to construct a very hopeful picture. The great poet of the Little Miami has never made a reputation as a prophet, but we believe he is in training for some such position. At the Chicago convention he feasted, but since then he has been fasting, and it is well known that the humiliation of the flesh sometimes results in divers dreams and sundry visions.

There is one prophecy that Editor Halstead has made and to which he sticks with all the pertinacity of an almanac maker. He declares that "if the democrats In and ardor which you displayed. You, as honorable men, have stood by and are bound to stand by the decision. We, as honorable men, are bound to see to it that that decision is respected and that you shall not be called upon to admit more or to promise more than is involved in the decision. Upon this platform we meet here today; upon this platform we meet here today; upon this platform we stand as citizens of a common country. In standing upon it we claim no superiority over you; you admit no inferiority to us.

There is no hloody which represense labelian. this time, we are in for a long spell of democratic rule-barring incidents of a revolutionary character." We believe Editor Halstead is right, and that is why his vigorous remarks cheer and strengthens. We believe that a majority of the honest voters of the country are anxious to promote just such a state of things as the great Ohio editor predicts. They have already seen how the country has prospered and how successfully and economically the affairs of the government have been administered under President Cleveland, and they are anxious to have some more of it. It is a brand new experience since the warthis thing of honest and unpartisan governnent-and the people are so pleased with it that they want to continue it awhile.

Editor Halstead is right. If the demo crats win this year-as they are sure to doit will be many years before they are defeated again. The people know a good thing when they see it.

STANLEY and the republican candidate or president are both reported to be lost. It is hoped that Stanley will be found again.

AT THE GETTYSBURG reunion the few 'Louisiana Tigets' who were present were among the most popular men on the ground. The federal veterans made a rush to shake hands with them. The last time the "Tigers" were at Gettysburg the federals were too busily engaged to think of shaking hands.

To-DAY IS THE anniversary of the declars tion of independence, and it will be properly celebrated almost everywhere. Old John Adams said of the day: "It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward forevermore." In the south especially it should be celebrated. The declaration of independence was the work of a southerner, and in the war that followed a southerner was commander-in-chief of the American armies. The day belongs to the nation, but all southernors should feel a peculiarly warm interest

IT IS TO BE HOPED that our states will not wage war upon each other. The governor of Virginia advises the governor of North Carolina to send out a gunboat to seatter the Virginia oyster men in North Carolina waters The governor of Tennessee has recently notified the governor of Virginia that the question of the boundary line between the two states cannot be reopened, as Tennessee has long regarded the matter as settled. All this looks the country. Why, the devil would soon get tired of ruling a country without whisky in it and would resign and go back to hell again. Wives, come down on your husbands and make them you the prohibition ticket. Tell them you will leave them if they don't vote for prohibition. If we had more grass widows in the country it would make prohibition." This is red hot. But did Sam say it? Did he seri-ously advise wives to threaten to leave their As for his preference for the devil for presi dent, without whisky, to any man with whisky, nobody cares. That is simply a fancy point,

Now that the plan of campaign, as advo cated by the Constitution, has been adopted by the national democratic committee, we feel that the house of our fathers is once more open, even if the doors of the room occupied by the Georgia democracy have been locked add botted by the bosses. But they are being opened—rapidly opened, and the eyes of the democrats of the state are also being opened.

NEWSPAPER NOTES.

The Evening News, just started by Mr. J. B. Pound, in Chattanooga, promises to be a lively, newsy afternoon paper. It has made a good start, and there is no reason why it should not succeed.

The Buffalo Courier has moved into a nev seven-story building, donned a new dress and adopted the eight page form. It always was an able paper, and now it is a handsome one.

The Chattanooga Times distinguished itself on the 1st by coming out in a forty-four page issue, filled with attractive reading matter and advertisements, and numerous handsome illustrations. The cover is printed in colors, and on the first page represents Chattanooga as the "hub of the universe." The proprietor, Mr. Adolph S. Ochs and Editor Mac Gowan are to be congratulated upon the splendid number of one of the best dailies in the south. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

WALKS AND TALKS.

Dr. J. H. Low, of New York, is spending a day of two with his Atlanta friends. The doctor says that the bets offered at the Hoffman house are all in favor of Cleveland. The Cleveland men offer in many instances to bet $10,000 against $6,000. If money talks, the way the bets run ought to mean something.

When people hear of a sick and destitute amily why do they parade the case before the pub lie in the newspapers? All they have to do is to re-port the case to City Warden Lee, at the cham-ber of commerce building, and he will look into the matter, and see that physicians, medicine, nurses and provisions are furnished. The other day a note and provisions are infrinshed. The other day a note sent to The Constitution for publication was turned over to Mr. Lee, and he found when he visited the place designated by the writer that the residents were doing very well, and were not in need of assistance. They were very much mortified over the action of the anonymous writer, and said that if the note had appeared in print it would have been a terrible blow to them. print it would have been a terrible blow to them, Warden Lee will promptly attend to all such cases Last month he visited ninety-six poor families, and relieved all who really needed help.

A Creditor's Bill.

A Creditor's Bill.

Julius Gottlieb, who runs a store on Decatur street, filed a creditor's bill against R. Beerman late yesterday afternoon in which he alleged that the latter owed him $180. The bill asked for a receiver. At half-past seven o'clock last night Judge Richard H. Clark heard the bill and cranted an order making last night Judge Richard H. Clark heard the bill and granted an order making Mr. Robert H. Sibley the receiver of Beerman's assets. Beerman, it seems, has two stores—one at 152 Marietta, and the other at 165 Peters street. The value of his goods is estimated at about $2,000.

Mr. Sibley went out to 165 Peters street last night, to take charge of Beerman's assets, but found that the stock had been removed.

Mr. Sibley seid he sawn actions of the Sibley seid he sawn actions of the stock had been removed.

Mr. Sibley said he saw nothing at 165 except six rubber valies. He will probably continue his search for assets this morning.

It is not probable that Beerman will leave the city with a creditor's bili hanging over him, or if the chief of police of Norfolk should and, or it the chief of bonce of Norlock should roll in with a requisition for him, a warrant for bigamy would be sworn out at once and Beerman would be re-arrested. He Passed Away Peacefully at II O'Clock

At 11 o'clock last night.

At 11 o'clock last night young Henry R. Jackson died. His death was painless, and he passed away as if falling into a sleep. During the day he rallied several times, and the symptoms were so favorable as to give his family a faint hope that he would triumph over his dread fee. But it was ordained that he should die, and not all the skill of physicians and the tenderest nursing could stay the hand of death.

and the tenderest nursing could stay the hand of death.

The fact that he lived four days and nights after four of the most skillful physicians of the city had given up all hope and declared that death was to be momentarily expected, was searcely less than a miracle. Early Saturday morning the physicians who had been managing the case held a consultation and agreed that they had exhausted all means in their reach to save the young sufferer. They concurred in the opinion that he could not possibly live longer than a few hours. Firmly persuaded of the hopelessness of the case all the physicians save Dr. Alexander left the house, saying that they had exhausted their resources and could do nothing else. Four hours passed and the young man still lived. His brother, Mr. Tom Cobb Jackson, resolved to call in a practitioner of another school and see if he could do anything in the dire extremity. He argued anything in the dire extremity. He argued that nothing was to be lost and everything was to be gained. At nine o'clock Saturday morning Dr. Robertson, of the well-known water cure establishment on Capitol avenue, was called in. At once he began a treatment radically different from that which the other declars had At once no began a treatment radically different from that which the other doctors had tried. He resorted to the water cure, and it was not long before he obtained the happiest results. Young Jackson rallied under these applications, and showed signs of vitality which astonished those around him. He continued to improve until his father and brother had hones of his recovery. Sunday and Mon-had hopes of his recovery. Sunday and Mon-day and yesterday he lost very little apparently if he gained nothing in strength. His vitality was at a very low ebb when Dr. Robertson began his treatment, and all that the doctor was at a very low ebb when Dr. Robertson began his treatment, and all that the doctor could do was to conquer the disease. This he inquestionably did. Speaking of this Mr. Cobb Jackson said: "It is my conviction, the opinion of my father and of all others who have been with Henry the past few days that if Dr. Robertson had been called in a few days earlier my brother would now be alive. We all believe that Dr. Robertson has accomplished elieve that Dr. Robertson has accomplished almost a miracle in thus prolonging his life for four days and nights after the ablest doctors of Atlanta had declared that it was impossible for him to last more than a few hours. We believe Dr. Robertson is a genius, and ascribe to him wonderful skill. Of course the other physicians did all they could, too."

The news of young Henry Jackson's death will earry sorrow into many households in Atlanta. He was a young man of shining gifts. A handsome, bright, frank, noble boy—the joy of the family and the very idol of his mother. Strigkey down in the strength of his mother. Stricken down in the strength of his youth. His intellect was of a high order. He won high distinction in the schools of Atlanta, and led his class in Athens. He was about to begin preparations for entering Harvard next fall. Had he lived until the 7th of this month he would have reached his sixteenth year. He was born ih Atlanta, and was named after his illustrious grandfather.

This morning at 7:40 his body will be taken to Athens for interment in the family burial

THE WORLD OF SOCIETY.

The home of Dr. Newton, No. 51 Capitol wenue, last night was the scene of a very pretty ffair. The Sigma Chi, a chapter composed of min oung ladies of this year's graduating class of the Sirls' High school, gave a reception to their class-mates from eight to twelve.

The decorations were unique and pretty. The stairway was hung with the garlands used by the young ladies in their march on Friday night. On the walls of the parlor was the monogram of the chapter and beneath it the words "Class of '88." The evening was spent in the enjoyment of game interspersed with music, after which refreshments were served. At twelve o'clock all bid good night, rell pleased with their entertainment. Mrs. William King, of the Woman's Kingdom, has an old book that is of special interest on this our glorious fourth. It is a Clark's Saliust, bound in calf, and was presented to Mrs King's die tinguished father, Judge Smith Clayton, by George Washington. It contains the autograph of the father of our country, with date of his birthday and that of Judge Clayton, and was given to the latter when only eleven years old as a reward for a speech made by the embryo statesman at the Richmond academy, near Augusta. The Library association has developed the idea of an authors' reading to an extent little con-templated in the beginning. We saw the venerable Richard Malcom Johnston on the street this morning, who appeared as active as ever, notwithstanding, who appeared as active as ever, notwithstanding his sixty-seven years. He is here to lend his aid to the library at the authors' reading, which comes off at the operahouse Friday night. If we may judge by the success which has always attended his efforts in northern cities, atlanta is about to have a treat. He will read selections from his Dukesborough Tales, or from his novel, Mark Langsvon. No one should miss an opportunity which may not again present itself; and then the object of this reading calls aloud for assistance—the Young Men's library needs help. Don't hesitate to give it.

Chautaugua Will be Crowded Today.

The Grand Barbecue and Meeting of Veterans—Take Early Train and Go Out While it is Cool.

Everybody wants to go to Chantanona

There is room for everybody to go comfort-

Just observe the following rules: You can buy your ticket at three places—at 13 Kimball house, 17 Kimball house and at the Union passenger depot. If you pass the first place and it is crowded, go on to the second place, and, if that is crowded, go on to the depot. Make it a point to go a little earlier than the leaving time of the train, and you will have a few minutes in which to get your tickets.

As to leaving the city: You can leave at 7 As to leaving the city: You can leave at 7 o'clock this morning, or at 9:15, or at 11, or at 1:25, or at 5 o'clock. On each of these schedules there will be run three full trains if there is crowd enough to fill them. The trains will be run three miles apart by the block system, so that there is no possibility of accident. All these trains will leave the passenger depot at the time mentioned. Special accommodations will be made for ladies, and Mann boudoir cars will be run on every train with an extra charge of twenty-five cents for a seat in the boudoir car to Salt Springs, Two Mann cars will be run on each schedule, one on each train. The Georgia Pacific has massed thirty-six cars in Atlanta for this purpose, besides its regular train. Each train will be made up of six close coaches, five open cars, and one Mann car.

Trains will return from Chautauqua at 8 o'clock a. m., 10 a. m., 12:30 p. m., 3:17 p.

and 4:18 p. m.

By these schedules, which are arranged by Mr. Barnum, who is present in Atlanta in person, fifteen trains will go out to Salt Springs and return. These trains have the right of and return. These trains have the right of way, and each train is run under the block system, which insures a clear track for twelve miles in eiter direction, and there need not be the slightest apprehension of accident. Under the schedules as arranged you can go or come from Salt Springs almost any bour of the day, so go along and have a good time, and help out the confederate veterans.

Passengers by the East Tennessee. Passengers by the East Tennessee.

You can also go by the East Tennessee road if you desire, although they have not put on regular excursion trains as yet. You can take any of their regular trains and go to Austell, where the dummy lines will carry you to Salt Springs in fifteen minutes. The fence between the springs has been knocked down, and there is uninterrupted travel from Austell to Salt Springs. This will give additional facilities for handling today's crowds. You can come back from Salt Springs by the dummy line to Austell and there connect with the East Tennessee train.

Scenes at the Ground Yesterday.

Georgia never saw a busier scene than was presented at Chautauqua yesterday afternoon. More than a twelve hundred men, and more than a hundred wagons and scrapers were at work. There was the ceaseless din of hammering, of the labor squads singing, of the calls of teamsters, and orders of bosses, the creaking of derricks and all the compond fusses that disturbed the tower of Babel. Every man seemed determined to get the great work as nearly completed by this morning as possible. Many of the squads worked from four o'clock in the morning until seven at night with intermission for breakfast, dinner and supper. At six o'clock yesterday, evening the fences and gates were not up, the grounds were still unenclosed; but Mr. Wylie will have a force of 500 men at work at 6 o'clock this morning, and by the time the crowd arrives, the ticket takers will be ready behind the new-made gates, and the fence will be rising as if by magic to enclose the Chautauqua grounds. The work will still be unfinished, but the plan of the Chautauqua will be cutlined in all its details, even to the pumping in the lake, across which the dam is not yet completed.

The Programme for Today.

Today's programme is a good one, and it will last all day. If you cannot go out on the early train, go out at 1:25, and you will still be a half hour ahead of the barbecue, and in time to hear the afternoon concerts and speaking. You can leave the Chautauqua for the city at 3:17, 4:18, or 6 o'clock, so even if you cannot go out before 1:25, go out then, and you will be in time for the programme and also for the barbecue.

Chautauqua Notes. The Programme for Today

Chautauqua Notes.

Mr. T. L. Langston bought the first ticket to Chautauqua. The tickets arrived from Cincinnati at 5:12, and at 5:15 Captain Langchichman at 5:12, and at 5:13 Captain Lang-ston walked in, paid 65 cents and received a ticket with three coupons, one good for the fare to Chautauqua, the second coupon for admission to the grounds, and the third coupon for the return trip. More than five thousand for the return trip. More ought to be sold today.

WITHDRAWS THE SUIT.

The Last of a Suit for $10,000, for Defamation of Character. About a year ago Mr. Erwin Maxwell, proprietor of the Maxwell house, was sued for $10,000 damages, and $150 additional, the value of a watch and chain lost by a guest. The plaintiff in this case was Mr. W. J. Pelott, and the affair created considerable of a sensation at the time it was first published.
The watch and chain were stolen from Mr.
Pelott's room at the Palace hotel, in Cincinnati, of which house Mr. Maxwell was then manager.

But Mr. Pelott has chapged his mind in regard to this matter. The $10,000 damages claimed was for an alleged defamation of his character by Mr. Maxwell. He has withdrawn this suit as well as that for the recovery of the replace of his works and some and the second value of his watch and chain, and the matter will cause no further trouble. DEATH OF BENJAMIN HODGES.

The Victim of a Runaway Accident Dies Yesterday Morning. Benjamin Hodges, who was injured last Satrday in a runaway accident, died at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

A post mortem examination was made by Drs. Johnson, Gaston and Willis Westmoreland, jr. They report Mr. Hodges's death as being caused by perforation of the bowels.

The funeral services will be held at 10 clack this manning at the residence of the o'clock this morning, at the residence of the deceased, Alexander street, and the interment will be at Westview cemetery.

Two excellent objects appeal for your help day. The Chautauqua opens its first session - the confederate veterans start their fund for a veterans' home. How can you help them? By buying a sixty-five cent ticket to Chautanqua, and going out at 9 o'clock, 11 o'clock, or 1:25, eating a good barbecued dinner under the rees, hearing good music, and good speeches. It only costs sixty-five cents. Now, can you afford not to spend that much in helping out the Chautauqua and the veterans? Twenty thousand tickets ought to be sold today. Buy a ticket, even it you cannot go, and the veterans will appreciate it.

RICE VS. HAMMOND.

The Senatorial Contest Opens In

Colonel Rice Replies to Judge Hammond's Position on the Local Option Ques-tion-How He Stands.

The senatorial contest has opened in earnest. The lines are drawn and everything is ready for the battle, which will be fought to a finish by Colonel Frank P. Rice and Judge W. R.

The two warriors have put on their paint, and from this time on will pose before the public a la Sullivan. The first pass was made yesterday by Judge Hammond, who in an in-terview in the Journal explained his position on the prohibition question and announced the platform on which he would base his candidacy, To a Constitution reporter Judge Hambarrooms, as set out in my interview in the I think the reasons for making a united effort to pass such a law are very strong. It is admitted by all good men that the barroom is not only an evil, but is pre-eminently the great evil of the liquor traffic. I believe the abolition of them by a general state law would go far toward solving the whole question of the liquor traffic. Suppose, for instance, that every barroom in the United States was closed permanently by a general law. It would not be long before the wholesale trade would dwindle into insignificance, because the dealers could not find any market for their wares. It is safe to say that the actual consumption of liquor throughout the country is tenfold greater with an open bar in all of our cities than it would be if none was allowed to be sold to be drank on the premises. The great bulk of the drinking is done by those who frequent barrooms. Every merchant knows that he can very greatly increase his business by so bringing it before the people as really to create a demand for his goods. There are many thing we want when we see them, which otherwise we would never have thought of. No man understands this principle better than on-keeper. It is the supplying of the want which he himself creates that makes him

"What would you do with the wholesal "I would leave everything to local option except barrooms. What I mean by that is, I would not allow liquor to be sold by retail, or to be drank on the premises, or the keeping of places for the drinking of liquor. I would not deny to any community the right to exclude the sale entirely under the local option law. Neither would I undertake to pass a general law absolutely prohibiting the sale in any form or for any purpose, because that is so extreme in the view of many good men, as to arouse strong opposition from them, and keep eternal agitation on question. I would amend the local option law so as to allow the sale for medicinal purposes under suitable restrictions so as to prevent the abuse. I do not think the law is perfect as it stands, by any means." "Do you expect the support of any anti-prohibitionists in your race on this platform? "I do not think I can reasonably expect the support of any liquor dealers, either wholesale or retail, because to stop the retail trade would break the backbone of the wholesale trade; but I certainly think there are many men who oppose what they call extremes in prohibition, the total prohibition of the sale for all purposes and in any way, who will look with great favor upon any effort to pass a law to sup-press the barroom evil. And I think they will do this without making any demand for a consideration to be paid them by the prohibi-tionists in the way of a compromise. With such men it is no compromise, because they are opposed to barrooms on principle as being the worst enemies of society. Even extreme prohibitionists can stand with me in a fight on barrooms, when I make no compromise or concession as to any other branch of the trade. If all the barrooms were suppressed, and it should turn out that the mptlon of liquor was as great as before, then there would be no gain. But if, as I be lieve would be the case, the closing of the barrooms would result in a material reduction of the consumption, then there is material gain just to that extent to the cause of temperance. My opinion is that when we crush the retail | the proh trade we have crushed the head of the evil.' COLONEL RICE ON DECK. A CONSTITUTION reporter encountered Colonel Rice yesterday afternoon, and asked him what he had to say of Colonel Hammond's position.

"I am sorry this campaign has begun so early," he replied, "and I would not have started it so soon had it been left to me, for I am opposed to so much agitation of the question. But since Judge Hammond has taken the responsibility of firing the first gun, I suppose I will be justified in turning loose a gatling gun or two, won't I?"

AS TO CLAYTON COUNTY. "In the first place," said Colonel Rice, "Clayton county will vote for me, notwithstanding the fact that it has been published that Judge Hammond has received a telegram stating that it had instructed for him. It acted yesterday, and this is what it said on the cenatorial question:

"According to the rotation plan, we concede to Fulton county the right to the candidate for senator from this district, and instruct our delegates to tor from this district, and instruct our designes to the senatorial convention to vote accordingly."

"The resolutions passed by the Clayton county democracy," continued Colonel Rice, "further declare against any repeal or change in the state local option law. This shuts Judge Hammond out, from the fact that he is diametrically convesed to that sentiment, and if in metrically opposed to that sentiment, and if in the senate would do everything possible to sort, and hold that the question of prohibition or no prohibition should not be continually brought into our politics. Our local option system cannot be improved upon, for it is the very essence of home rule. Judge Hammond is opposed to it, and would force laws on a community that the people did not want. This is not democratic, and above all is not practicable. Judge Hammond says he is even opposed to letting the people vote on the mat-ter. I am for local option as we now have it as the best solution of the prohibition question, and the people of this state and of this district are of the same opinion."

SOME SCRAP BOOK MATTERS. "In reference to Judge Hammond's statement that he is in favor of a state law against the barroams," I have clippings here that give his position fuller, and not as a candidate. In the recent temperance convention which met in Atlanta on the 28th of Iay, he introdubed the following resolution:

1. Resolved, That we as representative temper-day's Constitution, and will ask that it be reproduced here, as follows:

produced here, as follows:
From Constitution of May 9th.

"Mr. Carmichael, of Coweta, opposed the resolutions. We have local option now in nearly every county in the state. Better not let it go. A state law might result in sending local option and everything else "to the bottom." Better cling to the local option oak than to risk all in waking up the state law prohibition lion. Adam and Eve had local option in the garden of Eden. They could go out or stay in. For heaven's sake, don't let us tinker with a state law, or risk sinking all to the tinker with a state law, or risk sinking all to the very bottom. As for local option I have walked it out, talked it out, lived it out, and I propose to die it out. I've got little enough sense sober, but, thank God, I've got sense enough to see that local option is the best we can do." Is the rest we can do,"

Dr. Hawthorne said: "We had hoped that the resolutions would be harmoniously considered.

They are not intended to hurt anybody—not even the third party. I would be the last man in Georgia los say anything unkind about Sam Small, my distinguished and devoted friend. He deserves the heartfelt sympathy and support of every true man for the noble struggle which he has made in bringing himself out of the depths. Sam Small de-serves to be crowned, and crowned with the dia-dem of Christ who redeemed him."

"We do not propose to commit ourselves to the hird party movement. We simply propose to let it alone. We would lose much by organizing into a separate party. It is best to keep this great moral third party me issue before the people, in order that men of all parties may see the evil and come to our support. Two-thirds of the voting population of Georgia favor prohibition, and I thank God that every virous woman on Georgia soil is a prohibitionist! [Dr. Hawthorne rose to a question of privilege later in the session and modified the above remark by in the session and modified the above remark by saying: "I meant this—All virtue-loving women

Mr. W. J. Northen, speaking to the resolution said: "Local option has served Georgia grandly, and I think that we had better let local option alone." Mr. Godfrey, of Stewart, asked: "Is it the ion to ask the legislature for a state prohibition law? If so I cannot vote." Dr. Hawthorne: "The resolutions commit us to the principle that the legislature has the right to mr. Walker, of Walton: "I regret to be compelled to oppose the resolution. Local option, I think, is the best thing for the prohibitionists. If they at-tempt to pass a state law they will commit the big-gest blunder ever committed by sensible men." Judge Hammond said: "There seems to be a misapprehension in the minds of the opponents of the resolutions. Their object is unquestionably a state resolutions. Their object is unquestionably a state prohibition law by legislation. I am the author of the resolutions, and to make their object perfectly oatent I move to amend by inserting after the last line in the last resolution the words 'by a state pro-hibitory law.' It will then read: "All present a solid front for the accomplishmen of this object by a state prohibitory law. "That makes it plain that the resolutions call for state law."

After some further discussion Mr. Han amendment was adopted, and on a call for the pre-vious question the resolutions were adopted, though number of the delegates voted against them.
Continuing, Colonel Rice said: "THE CON STITUTION of the same day contained the following interview with Judge Hammond, which I will give without comment: From the Constitution of May 9th.

WHAT JUDGE HAMMOND SAYS. Referring to the resolution on the subject of the state law, Judge Hammond said: "I think the convention has acted wisely. If the ople of Georgia favor prohibition there ought to be a state prohibitory law. If they do not favor it no such law can be passed. We shall make a fight for it, and if we succeed it will be because the pecple are with us. If we do not succeed we will be no orse off than we are now, as we will still have local option to fall back on."
"Dees the resolution contemplate a state elec-

"It does not. I should be opposed to that. The resolution contemplates the passage of a state prohibitory law by the house and senate of the Georgia legislature, made law by the governor's signature. This policy will of course bring it before the people, for the fight will be made on candidates for the rislature."

'Will the fight be made in every county?" "Will the light be made in every county?"
"I cannot say; but the convention was very generally in favor of a state prohibition law. I presume candidates pledged to that policy, and candidates pledged against that policy, will be run in almost every county in the state. The matter will be thoroughly discussed, and the popular vote on the subject may be understood to represent public faciling." ect may be understood to represent public feeling." "Was the Fulton delegation in favor of this reso

"Yes, the Fulton delegation had a consultation last night. We knew that numberless resolutious would be proposed on the subject of a state law, and after considerable discussion we decided to support and adopted by the convention, and which is the declaration of the convention as printed above.' "The fight then for a state prohibitory law is

Yes. Proper committees will be appointed, and nists will make a quiet but determined effort to carry the state by electing a majority of the house and senate, and thus secure the passage of a law which will prohibit the sale of liquor within the limits of the state of Georgia,"

It is understood that Judge Hammond is the author of the resolution passed by the convention.

JONESBORO, Ga.; July 3.—At a mass meeting of the democratic party of Clayton county, this day assembled, by virtue of a call of the executive committee of said county.

A. P. Adamson was on motion elected chairman and J. E. Blalock secretary.

By request Mr. J. L. H. Waldrop explained the object of the meeting, to be the appointment of delegates to the gubernatorial, congressional and senatorial conventions.

Captain W. T. Sims offered the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted: "Whereas, We the democrats of Clayton county, in mass meeting assembled, desire to express our renewed allegance to the party and our devotion to its principles, therefore, be it resolved.

First. That we are highly gratified at the action of the national democratic convention in nominating Grover Cleveland for president and Hon. Allen G. Thurman for vice-president, and we most heartily pledge the ticker our undivided support.

Second. We are greatly gratified at the safe economise and highly satisfactory administration of our state government, given us at the hands of his Excellency Governor John B. Gordon, and instruct our delegates to the approaching state convention to vote for Gordon's renomination and the renomination of all the present state house officers.

The Atlanta agents who have an interest in the passenger traffic to that point appreciate this fact, and are doing their level best to secure a lower figure than $19, which is the present rate. The Telegraphers. The Chattanooga Times of yesterday refers extensively to an order said to have been issued recently by the Past Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia system, requiring its telegraph operators to withdraw from their organization or be discharged. The action of the company in this matter is not such as to cause any appreheusions of a strike among their operators, and the matter will undoubtedly be satisfactorily sattled.

The East Tennessee Will put on sale, in a few days, round trip with put on sale, in a few days, found trip tickets to Austell, with coupons for dummy line transportation strached. This will enable passengers by this road to make the trip to Salt Springs and to the Sweetwater Park hotel and return to Austell, on one ticket. The big plank fence separating the two springs which has been the occasion of a great deal of sport has been removed and travel will be no longer obstructed.

At the Union Depot. There was no incident of importance at the of the kind that knew where it was going and bought its ticket without any warnings or suggestions. It was one of those days that the depot officials remember with gratitude, and are very infrequent.

It is very seldom that a convention is in session without attracting the attention of the in session without attracting the attention of the railroad agents, but the editors were not disturbed by them. They had their passes, and were safe.

The New Road. SAVANNAH, Ga., July 3.-[Special.]-In a few weeks, work will be begun at track laying of the new railroad that will connect Eden and Ameri cus. President Alexander said this morning the the work will be prosecuted vigorously. The sur work will be prosecuted vigorously. The surveys are nearly completed, and the way is clear for quick construction. The road will be about 190 miles long, and for quite a distance will run on the line that was leveled for the defunct Savannah, Dublin and Western road. There is no railroad Dubin and Western road. There is no rainous running through the greater part of the country along the route of the new line, and it will open up a fine section of undulating, healthy farming land, where the population is now scattered. The general was unable to estimate the time that would be required to complete the road, but as a large force of men will be employed, the close of the present year will see it very well advanced.

Fighting the State. Jackson, Miss., July 3.—[Special.]—The llinois Central railroad, which for two years ha Illinois Central railroad, which for two years has been submitting to a freight tariff prepared and approved by the Mississippi railroad commission, has promulgated a tariff of rates of its own, much in advance of the commission's rate, completely ignoring and setting at defiance the state's authority, and this in the face of the fact that their revenue had not been decreased under the rate liked by the commission. There is great complaint by the business interests along the line in this state, some of which claim that they will be rained if the state's authority is not invoked and the great corporation made to respect the law. The commission will resort to the courts at once.

A Word to Wholesale Merchants. All the depots in Atlanta will close today at 12 o'clock, and will remain closed until morning. It will, therefore, be impossible to ship any goods today, or to receive any. The committees of the Confederate Veterans association and of the Piedmont Chautauqua would appreciate it if all the wholesale mer chants in every department of business would close their stores today at 12 o'clock, and go themselves and permit their clerks to go to Piedmont Chautauqua and attend the Fourth of July exercises, enjoy the concerts and take a hand at the barbecue. Trains will leave Atlanta at 12:30 and at 1:25, and the barbecue will not be served until 2:30, so that all will have time to go down and enjoy this feast under the trees. There will be concerts during the evening and speaking, and everybody can return home at 6 o'clock, or earlier if de sired, after having contributed to two good causes, and enjoyed a look at the famous Chautauqua grounds, and eaten an open air dinner that will live in memory for many a day.

Let every wholesale merchant, and every retail merchant who will, when they read this, announce that they will close their stores at I2 promptly, and let everybody go out to the barbecue. It only costs 65 cents for the round trip, which includes admission, and part of this goes to the Confederate Veterans' association, and part to the Chantauqua Help both of these, which in turn will help

A QUESTION OF HEALTH.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER.

Bread, biscuit and cake, now generally made by the aid of baking powder, enter so largely into our daily food that their debasement by the introduction of any injurious or deteriorating substance is a matter of serious concern to the public health. What baking powder shall we use to avoid the lime and alum now found in so many leavening agents, and to insure pure, sweet and wholesome bread, is a question, therefore, of direct importance to every individual.

The "Royal" has been determined by the Government chemists and the most prominent food analysts to be the only baking powder made that is entirely free from lime, alum and other impurities, and absolutely pure. It is made from cream of tartar refined for its exclusive use by patent processes by which the tartrate of lime is totally eliminated. No other baking powder manufacturer uses chemically pure cream of tartar, and hence the adulteration of other brands. The "Royal" is, accordingly, the only baking powder that will produce perfectly pure bread, biscuit, cake, pastry, etc.; and these articles are now pronounced more wholesome when raised by the Royal Baking Powder than when leavened by any other agent.

It is particularly a question of health, therefore, what baking powder we shall use; and those who appreciate the miseries of dyspepsia and other ailments that follow the use of impure food will not hesitate to select the "Royal,"

A MARVELOUS SUCCESS!

The wonder of modern mercantile prosperity has our past six months' business been! Exceeding by one hundred per cent our most sanguine expectations! The very best tailor-made goods, moderate prices, close attention to the wants of our trade, and the polite and pleasant treatment of all with whom we come in contact has made our business the splendid success it is. People of Atlanta and vicinity, we thank you! Yet our ambition is not satisfied. We are anxious to have not only the best but the largest Clothing and Furnishing Goods business in the South. To this end we bend all our energies. With this in view, we are manufacturing now in the East, the most choice, the most superb stock of goods ever shown in the South. They will commence to arrive soon, and in order to make room for them, we will commence Thursday morning

It is our policy not to carry from one seaeon to another a single dollar's worth of goods when we can avoid it. Values are no object to us now. Room is what we want. We promise the people of Atlanta, and we were never known to break a promise, that Thursday morning will inaugurate the most gigantic clearance sale ever held in Atlanta. Our word is out! Come and see for yourself.

Stocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK. July 3.—Attendance stock board today was extremely small, most of members having left city to remain over national holiday, and business done was in all probability smallest in history of exchange for one day. Importance of transactions was on scale conforming to foregoing feets and they introduce were confined to narrowest. facts and fluctuations were confined to narrowest limits ever seen, very few of stocks showing ex-treme range of more than haif of one per cent. Only important movement during day was in Rock Only important movement during day was in Rock island which, under some pressure from traders, retired from 102 to 100%. General list, however, displayed firm tone during first hour, when few small advances were established, bulls holding prices more firmly under improved outlook of iron trade, while bears were disinclined to ext. and their lines of shorts. Close leaves most of list small fractions better than last night's prices, but Rock island lost 11% and Pacific mall sold at 32%, which was 11% pre cent lower than vesteriax's final which was 11/2 per cent lower than yesterday's final price. Shorts in all directions appeared to have suddenly made up their minds that their outstanding engagements were in dunger, and the rush to cover forced values up. The advance has been on a rumor that a line of 5,000 bales of cotton had been sold for export yesterday, and, although the official record of today has not confirmed the transaction, we were inform-has not confirmed the transaction, we were informed freight engagements to Liverpool had been made to the extent of 10,000 bales of cotton. The new crop participated only to a very moderate extent, owing to improved crop advices, and the fall and winter months gained but 1@2 points.

of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, July 3—Wheat trading today was conficed almost exclusively to local operators, but the feeling was rather firm and prices averaged higher than yesterday. Foreign market advices were favorable, quoting wheat firm and tendency higher, and early in the day there were some reports of bad weather abroad. Fair buying reported here to cover "shorts" helped the firmness, the opening was about ½6 higher than yesterday's closing steadily; advanced ¾6½c recovered part of the decline and closed about ¾6½c higher than yesterday.

Corn was active and feeling rather unsettled, the market ruling firm early and easier later in the session. The openings were at about the closing prices of yesterday. The market was firm and advanced ½c, was steady for a time, then became easier and sold off ½c, ruled steady and closed ¾6½c higher than yesterday. There was a good buying on local account early while offerings were rather limited and this created considerable firmness and a reaction later was credited to the reports that about 50,000 bushels of corn had been posted in New York as her and out of coulding. 000 bushels of corn had been posted in New York as bot and out of condition.

Outs to go to store sold later especially No. 2 on account of this month's delivery being improved in the speculative market. July delivery advanced to $4,00% above yesterday's closing and closed $4,00% better. This improvement was the outgrowth of an improved demand from shorts, all other futures were weaker. There was a good trade in August were weaker. There was a good trade in August 1/40 lower range, but longer delivery ruled very

The provision market was weaker and prices The provision market was weaker and prices ranged lower. Stocks showed a trifle better than was expected especially of lard which were 50,097 tierces. The aggregate stocks of all kinds of hog products were 144,000,000 pounds, increase over June 1 of 11,000,600 pounds, but a decrease of 35,000,000 pounds from July 1 last year. A fair business was transacted, longstuff came out more freely than the buyers were able to absorb and a decline of 20@22½c was recorded on pork; 10@12½c on lard; 2c on short ribs. A rally followed the depression as shorts began to cover, but the last sales were at 5c decline on gan to cover, but the last sales were at 5c decline or

THE CONSTITUTION OF YESTERDAY, and they then began to add their contribution to the tale of financial loss. At about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, in the presence of several prominent citizens and officials, the money chest in the safe that once held the assets of the North Side savings bank was opened. The combination was given to the safe expert, Mr. John Berkele, by Mrs. Nelson, and it was but the work of a moment o open the doors. But, aside from the oppor-tunity for ventilation, the money chest might just as well have remained closed. There was

ABSOLUTELY NOTHING, in this once-upon-a-time depository of cash and

The bankers who had known Mr. Nelson during his business career in Atlanta were comparing notes yesterday, and many little reminiscences were brought out and discussed. It was generally agreed that he had done very much exchange business recently, with a

BUILDING UP A REPUTATION for his final coup. The buying and selling New York exchange, in the manner practiced by Mr. Nelson, can be carried on with a very limited capital, and Mr. Nelson probably took advantage of this to create the impression that he was doing a large business and had ample resources.

In response to the inquiry of a ConstituTion reporter last evening, Mrs. Nelson said:
"You desire, you say, to know if there is any information I can give you concerning Mr. Nelson.
Concerning the Mr. Nelson of charitable newspaper criticism, the alleged-defaulter, I have nothing to say. I am not acquainted with him. Nor concerning Mr. Nelson of an earlier date, who was my husband, have I anything to say, for as I knew him, and the world knew him, as a tender husband and honorable man, nothing is necessary to be said.

Very respectfully, "Mrs. C. C. NELSON."

A FAIR WARNING.

Nearly three months ago Mr. Nelson called a customer into his bank and told him that he expected to close up his business on July 1st, and he desired him to redeem some articles of jewelry that he had pledged with him to secure a small loan. The customer took him at his word, and about a month ago secured his collateral. This was favoritism on the part of Mr. Nelson, but it is appreciated by his former customer.

have probably the last check that was written on the North Side Savings bank. It was given to them at 10 o'clock on Monday morning, and was accepted at that hour, as they had not heard anything of Nelson's flight. They will lose nothing, however, as the drawer of the check is perfectly responsible.

REPUTABLE BANKS

Will probably receive a benefit from the lesson of this Nelson affair and those who have money to deposit will undoubtedly look up one of the solid banks to do business with. Atlanta has several of them and wild cat concerns should get the cold shoulder in the future.

Shut up your store or shop today at noon, if you cannot do it sooner, take the 1:25 train, go out and get a good barbeeue ainner at 2:30, hear the concerts, old-fashioned music and Hungarian quartette, and help out the confederate veterans. There is hardly a man in Atlanta who cannot get off today and have a good time. You can leave at 7 o'clock, 9:15, 11. 1:25, or 5.

A RECEIVER APPOINTED.

The May Utility Works in the Hands of George M. Hope.

Messrs. Milledge & Blalock went before Judge Richard H. Clark yesterday with a creditors bill.

The bill was brought by F. Carlisle against the May Utility works. The complaint alleged that the respondent is indebted to him and he cannot get his money and he asked the court to appoint a receiver.

Judge Clark stated that he would hear the case the 11th of this month. In the meantime he would appoint as temporary receiver Mr. George M. Hope.

The amount of liabilities and the value of the assets cannot be stated.

The company have at great expense erected an extensive bottling works, and have employed some of the best salesmen to be had, who are now placing this valuable water all over this country in large quantities. The Messrs Marsh & Co. are well satisfied of my ability to carry ont my agreement, to comply with my contract, or they would not have parted with this valuable property. But there are others who, whilst they have no money to invest in water, bank on their capital of curiosity, and are ever ready to give advice, etc. Having satisfied those who are interested, financially, in my success at time of signing lease, I will try to satisfy those who evidently have taken such deep interest in my undertakings. In order that they may appreciate the situation, I will say that I was born fifty-eight years ago today, somewhere near Mount Vernon, Va., the resting place of our "George Washington." dently entitles me to the rank of r. r. v. and the social scale.

My father died when I was but four years of age, and all I remember of him was the magnificent uniform and a good name which he left as our inheritance. He died possessed of over one hundred slaves, but being conscientionsly epiposed to that class of property, willed them "free," which I have never regretted.

I commenced business in New York with one of the largest dry goods importing houses then in the trade, at a salary the first year of $1,500, rising each year until admitted as partner in the firm. The members of the firm are still-living, and are well and favorably known. When at the age of twenty-seven years, I was sent to Europe to purchase goods, and was entrusted with $250,000, which I deposited in the banking house of George Peabody & Co., London, and drew against it for my purchases. I continued in this business until our recent troubles (the late war) when I found the south indebted to me to a very large extent, and are still indebted. But that is no fault of theirs, for I have never met a more honorable class of merchants anywhere than in the south. To show my appreciation of southern honor I was induced, through my brokers, to make quite extensive investments I commenced business in New York with southern honor I was induced, through my brokers, to make quite extensive investments in Georgia state bonds, which, unfortunately for me, and the people of Georgia, have not been paid. I think the day will come soon, however, when the younger portion of her citizens will see this stigma on her fair name and have her placed in the front ranks of honor. In conclusion I beg leave to say that I am interested in the profits of the Gilbert Manufacturing company, a well known corporation in New York, with an income of from $10,000 to $20,000 per annum, and expect to make fully a quarter of a million dollars from the sale of the Bowden Lithia water.

Very respectfully, FLOYD CHANEY.

Shut up your store or shop today at noon if you cannot do it sooner, take the 1:25 train, go out and get a good barbeeue dinner at 2:30, hear the concerts, old-fashioned music and Hungarian quartette, and help out the conederate veterans. There is hardly a man in Atlanta who cannot get off today and have a good time. You can leave at 7 o'clock, 9:15, 11, 1:25, or 5.

THE HEARING POSTPONED

The Habeas Corpus Case Postponed Till Tomorrow Morning.

Celonel George S. Thomas, Mr. Frank Har alson and Judge Pendleton went before Ordinary Calhouniyesterday morning to submit supplemental arguments in the habeas corpus case, brought to determine the validity of the three times drunk law.

The hearing had been postponed from last Friday, and it was expected a decision would be rendered. Judge Calhoun was, however, so busy with the cases of the July term of the court of ordinary, that he was compelled to postpone the hearing till tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

HOME TALK

From One You All Know.

I have been handling Invigorine in my drog business for the past two years, and knowing the formula, can say for it what I cannot for many preparations. It is a scientific preparation, and one of the best combinations I ever saw. It contains no opium in any form, or any other drug that will injure any one in the least taken as directed. I have sold a great deal of it, and it has given the best of spitisfaction and accomplished what is claimed for it. I can as a druggist conscientiously recommend it to the afflicted. L. H. Bradfield, of Smith & Bradfield, Druggists, 102 Whitehail street.

SEE WHAT A PHYSICIAN SAYS.

WADLEY, GA, January 30, 1888. It affords me pleasure to say that Invigorine is the finest product of the age to re-establish the prostrate fabric. It tones up the nervous system better, makes the steadlest nerves, strongest muscles and richest blood of any remedy I have ever had recourse to, and does more good in Bright's disease of the kidneys than all other remedies advertised so extensively for the cure of that trouble. It is that combination of vegetable tonics, nervines and alteratives with iron, that acts upon the secretions admirably, while it increases appetite, improves digestion, quiets irritated nerves and purifies the blood, and hence it is justly held in high esteem by the ladies for tiding them sweetly over the menopanse, wishing you great success, I remain yours truly.

In the routh the storm has been the heaviest, laying everything before it to the ground. Nature will have her way, and all the device of man can not change it. What are the causes of storms is a question of science and is not properly under stood. The cause of the storm that is now sweeping the country is thoroughly understood. The Great Dry Goods House of John Ryan's Sons Has an Unprecedented Sale.

You may talk about booms and their results but the steady growth of the large dry goods establishment of John Ryan's Sons beats them all. This house is now having a steady run, and the like of goods was never before seen in Atlanta of the character, and at prices they are offering them at.

A Constitution representative was in their large salesroom yesterday afternoon, and he never saw such a rush for the bargains. The store was literally packed, and this condition of things is a sure proof that John Ryan's Sons know what the people want, and are selling it to them at the right figures—away down be, low everybody else.

Why, sir, the dress and white goods are something wonderful. Mr. Stephen Ryan, the head of the concern, bought recently in New York, the biggest bargain of his life in white oods, and is now giving the people of Atlanta the benefit of them.

This house also offers the public a fine line of carpets, mattings and so forth at prices that will not bear competition. Prices, like blood, will tell, and that is the reason such a trade is being had in this department. Before you place your order, be sure to consult this house, they will save you money.

A TEACHER'S TRIUMPH

Miss Mary Johnson Wins in the City Court.

The Details of an Interesting Case-A Vicry for the Schools—Tom Glenn's Elo-quent Plea—A Popular Verdict.

Miss Mary Johnson scored a brilliant victory in the city court yesterday afternoon. She was the defendant in a case the like of which was never before tried in a court of justice. She was indicted for assault and battery, in that she had whipped a small boy, named Emmett Atkinson, who was a pupil in her school. Miss Johnson was a teacher in the fourth grade in the Marietta street school. The whipping took place the 10th of last April, and the next day the father of the lad who was chastised took out a warrant for Miss Johnson, charging her with assault and bat-tery. The defendant was bound over, and yesterday morning she appeared in court to answer to the charge.

Judge Van Epps held his court in the superior court room, it being much more comforta-ble than the room below.

Shortly after the opening of court Miss Johnson walked in, accompanied by Colonel Tom Glenn, Captain Welborn Bray, Superintend-ent Slaton and a dozen school teachers. Some of the latter had come as her witnesses and others as her friends. The place soon looked more like a school room than a court of The teachers and the children were present in large numbers, and they showed a lively interest in the proceedings. Nine tenths of them had never been in a courthouse and the day's experience was novel to them.
Colonel Glenn and Captain Bray appeared as counsel for Miss Johnson, and Judge J. A. Anderson and Solicitor Frank M. O'Bryan represented the state.

Miss Johnson was neatly dressed in a dark suit. She is as modest, lady-like a person as can be found among the teachers of Atlanta, who are certainly equal to those of any other city, not only in their scholastic acquirements, but in all those qualities which go to make up the perfect lady. Miss Johnson showed a slight timidity as she realized that she was in the clutches of the law. This not even her consciousness of innocence could overcome.

The prosecutor was Mr. Thomas Atkinson, of Brooklyn. His son, a bright boy of thirteen, sat near him, and both were near the prosecuting officer.

A jury was soon empanneled and the state opened its case.

Little Emmett Atkinson was the first wit. represented the state.

A jury was soon empanneled and the state opened its case.

Little Emmett Atkinson was the first witness placed on the stand. He told his story about the whipping. He said he was a pupil in the Marietta street school in the fourth grade, which was taught by Miss Johnson, the defendant; that he went to school the 10th of last April: that a janitor came into the room with a scuttle of coal; that there was a general laugh in which he joined; that he laughed perhaps louder than any of the other pupils, and was detected by the teacher, who whipped him. The witness described minutely how the whipping was administered. He was taken into the cloakroom and and was told to sit in a chair. The teacher took a switch of the regulation size and began whipping him. He said the whipping was so severe that blood was brought and his legs were blue. He showed his legs to the court and jury. Scars were noticed, and the witness said these scars were made by the switch in Miss Johnson's hand. The boy was cross-questioned, and he said that he knew one boy who got mad with the teacher for whipping him, and to get even with her took a nail and scratched his legs so as to make it bleed and seem as if he had been cruelly, stogged. The witness stated that immediately after receiving the whipping he went home and showed his bruised legs to his parents, who became angry at the way he had been treated; that some of the neighbors came in and inspected the wounds.

Dr. R. F. Lester testified that he was the reated; that some of the neighbors came in and inspected the wounds.

Dr. R. F. Lester testified that he was the family physician for Mr. Atkinson, and was called in to examine Emmett's legs the day after he was whipped; that he saw that the skin was cut and that blood had been drawn. Several small boys and girls were examined as to the circumstances connected with the Skin was cut and that blood had been drawn.

Several small boys and girls were examined as to the circumstances connected with the whipping. Their statements tallied with those made by Emmett Atkinson.

This closed the evidence for the state.

Jessie Johnson, a twelve-year-old boy, was the first witness for the defendant, and he told about Emmett's conduct in school. He said that Miss Johnson reproved Emmett, and he gave her impertinence; that he was a bad, unruly boy and deserved all he received, and more too. He said he saw no signs of blood.

Albert Cooper and Fred Ellaby, two intelligent young fellows, gave some interesting information about the school, its teacher and the discipline she maintained. They acquitted her of cruelty and praised her moderation.

Tom Estes stated that he witnessed the behavior of Emmett Atkinson just before he received his lashing, and heard him say to Miss Johnson in an impudent voice: "What do you want me to go over there for?" Witness wend on to describe how the whipping was done, and how whippings in the school are usually done.

Miss Florence Adams, a modest and intellidone, and how whippings in the school are usually done.

Miss Florence Adams, a modest and intelligent young lady, was examined. She told how Miss Johnson whipped her pupils and how she used to whip hers when she was a teacher in the public schools. She gave an example of a boy's cunning. On one occasion she whipped a boy, very much as Miss Johnson had whipped young Atkinson, and afterward the boy went out and took a nail and scraped the flesh off his leg to make it appear that he had been cruelly whipped on his naked legs.

Miss Angeline Adams gave some similar instances.

stances.
Other teachers were examined in this line.
All spoke in the highest terms of Miss John-

All spoke in the highest terms of Miss Johnson.

The defendant made her statement, not under oath. She told how Emmett Atkinson had given her much trouble by his insubordination, and how she had been very lenient with him; how he did not appreciate her kindness and continued to misbehave in school and to ignore her advice; how, at last, she could brook his impertinence no longer, and applied the rod as a corrective. She told minutely about the whipping, and denied having stricken him on the bare legs or to have drawn blood. She said that hearing of the boy's statement to his father, she went to see Mrs. Atkinson, to explain the matter and show that her motives were to uphold the discipline of the school, and not to be too severe on her pupils or to whip them in anger or revenge. Mrs. Atkinson, she said, did not become mollified and believed her son's statement rather than her statement. Miss Johnson told her story in a straight-forward, quiet manner that made a most favorable impression on all who heard it.

At this juncture it was the general feeling in the court room that the state had failed to make out its case.

The first argument for the state was made by Judge Anderson. He spoke of the cruel manner in which the boy had been whipped, described his suffering and appealed in pathetic language to convict the heartless teacher.

He was followed by Colonel Tom Glenn.

He was followed by Colonel Tom Glenn,

He was followed by Colonel Tom Glenn, who made a gallant speech in behalf of the defendant. He covered every phase of the case, and examined with rare acumen all the evidence which had been adduced. He held that the prosecution had made a lamentable failure. "This case," said he, "should never have been brought into a courthcuse. It is an outrage. To sustain this boy in his insubordination would be to condemn a faithful teacher and to subvert the discipline of the public schools. It would be a stab at the school system. Here is a medest, refined lady brought into a courthouse on a criminal charge because, in the discharge of her duty, she whipped a boy. It is a shame that this charge was ever made against her, and I am surprised that the recorder has joined forces with the solicitor to prosecute it. The jury should bring in a speedy verdict of 'not guilty,' and should add thereto: 'This prosecution is without foundation.'"

A LIVELY CASE.

A Bill Which Makes Some Racy Disclosures.

Prominent Physician the Defendant in sational Suit—What the Bill Sets Forth—Judge Clark's Order.

Mr. John A. Wimpy filed yesterday mornng in the office of the clerk of the superior ourt a bill for relief in behalf of Amanda M. Parker and against George W. Marvin. The bill makes some highly sensational disosures. It begins by asking the court to appoint a receiver to take charge of city property to the value of about $135,000, and to au ize the ejectment of the present holder of this property, Dr. George W. Marvin.

The bill alleges that John R. Pitts was the first owner of this property; that when he died he left it to his wife, who was his only heir. She afterward was married to P. M. Parks, with whom she lived for several years. A separation resulted, and Parks went to Florida. There was no divorce.

The bill continues: "In the year 1873 George W. Marvin, the defendant, came to Atlanta and produces the second produces of the

W. Marvin, the defendant, came to Atlanta and made great pretensions to being a celebrated doctor, and advertised largely in The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION and other papers in the state of Georgia, professing to cure all kinds of diseases to which humanity is heir, when in truth and in fact he was nothing but a fraud and a quack; that he never read medicine, nor did he ever graduate at any medical college."

a fraud and a quack; that he haves read incarcine, nor did he ever graduate at any medical college."

The bill gives a minnte history of the defendant, stating that he was born near St. Charles, county Cane, Il inois. He e-red the harmess trade, and before the war married Lucinda Tyler. He then moved to Franklin Grove, in the same state, and there lived as a harness maker until the close of the war. With his wife he moved to Chicago and there kept a very improper resort, which caused his wife to leave him. He then married Miss Annie Blakely, who is still his lawful wife, living in Illinois. He moved from Chicago to Omaha, and there set up as a great physician. While here it was alleged that a lady died under his treatment, for which he was arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced, but did not serve out his sentence. These statements, the bill says, were obtained by letters written by responsible persons.

The bill continues: "In 1873, while making false pretenses, Dr. Marvin opened an elegant office in Atlanta. While thus figuring before the people, he gained the confidence of Mrs. Georgia A. Parks, who had never been divorced from her husband, and with her he lived as his wife until her death a short time ago. She was a weak woman, and the said Goorga W. Marvin managed to defraud her lived as his wife until her death a short time ago. She was a weak woman, and the said George W. Marvin managed to defraud her out of the Broad street property. He represented to her, to carry out his designs, that he was divorced from his former wife, and that he had also secured a legal separation for her from her former husband, Pleasant M. Parks. Dr. Marvin, during these years, had her sister, Georgia A. Parks, in constant fear, and by threats of bodily harm made her do as he wished with the property, and to this end would not allow Mrs. Parker to visit her sister nor to communicate with her up to the time of her death. her sister nor to communicate with her up to the time of her death. Mrs. Parker asserts that Dr. Marvin collected all the rents from the Bread street property, and devoted them to buying other property, the deeds to which he took in his own now. property, the deeds to which he took in his own name. A short time ago Mrs. Parks died, still believing the property her own. M s. Parker alleges that Dr. Marvin has no property of his own, and outside of her sis are property, which he has obtained fraudulently, he is wholly insolvent."

Mr. John A. Wimpy went before Judge Richard H. Clark, and asked him to grant a restraining order and to place the property in the hands of a receiver.

Judge Clark granted the order restraining the defendant from disposing of any of the property.

The case will be heard the 6th of August.
